What is the BOCES Learning Resources Center Program?

Administered through St. Lawrence-Lewis BOCES, the Learning Resources Center Program offers a wide range of curriculum materials, audiovisual services, and human expertise designed to support the educational process.

What is the Media Library?

The Media Library is a collection of audio, visual, digital and multimedia curriculum-related resources that can enrich classroom instruction for both teachers and students. The Learning Resources Center has over 8,000 titles of instructional content in various media/formats.

How do I access the Learning Resources Center (LRC) Media Library on the Web?

Our SNAP catalog and ordering system is online at: <http://snap.sllboces.org>. CONTACT Cory Reynolds (creynolds@sllboces.org or 386-4504 Ext. 10203) at the Learning Resources Center or use the link on the SNAP homepage to request an account.

The Media Library Collection:

- Audiobooks
These are mostly MP3 or CD versions of some of the titles in the Classroom Book Collection.
- Big Books
Most Big Book kits include one Big Book and 30 student copies and a Teacher's Guide. Both fiction and nonfiction titles are available.
- CCCD Kits
Participating districts collectively develop School Library System (SLS) Coordinated Cooperative Collection Development (CCCD) author and theme kits. CCCD kits are housed at the BOCES LRC and circulated to all schools through the BOCES Media Library.
- Classroom Book Collection
Multiple copies of noteworthy books are available, most with Teacher's Guides, many with audio and/or large print versions.
- DVDs
The current DVD collection includes curricular titles, classic movies, foreign language materials, music programs, and more. The DVD format allows for greater control over use and presentation.
- Jackdaws
Thematic collections of primary source Historical documents compiled especially for teaching history in a hands-on fashion.

- Multi-Media Kits
A variety of materials and resources.

- Video Streaming
Over 50,000 items in the Media Library are available in digital format. This includes media we purchase in both hard copy and with digital rights, as well as LRC streaming, LEARN360, Classroom Video on Demand, and PBS Learning Media NY provided digital media services integrated with and accessible through SNAP. With your SNAP sign-on, you can access a wide range of digital content.

Other Collections: (3,900 titles)

- Seasonal Collections
DVD collections sent to schools for elementary instruction, each accompanied by a Mediography (annotated catalog) describing collection contents.
- Student Loan Collections
DVD collections sent to elementary and middle schools for student use. Collections are sent out annually and include a wide variety of entertaining and educational videos that students are allowed to borrow for home use.

Other Services Include:

- Off-air Taping

We provide legal cable and Internet dubbing services for daily, weekly, or block fed educational programming or online Webinars. Requests should be made at least one day in advance of program airing and will be filled on a first-come, first-served basis. We must be able to verify copying rights in order to record the programs requested. Dubbed titles (DVD format) are sent with the return date listed on them according to the recording rights.

- Lamination

Lamination of teaching material or student work is available through the BOCES Media Library services. For this particular service, schools are charged per foot of lamination used. Materials to be laminated should be sent to the LRC marked "LAMINATION" and clearly labeled with a return address. Items for lamination should NOT be metallic (no foil paper), have staples, glitter or exposed glue, and or have both dimensions (length and width) greater than 24 inches. Materials should be no thicker than manila folders. (Any material glued to a manila folder will exceed this thickness.) Laser printers that use crayon "INK" will run when laminated.
